

WINTER TALK
The Coastline of Mourne
By Jo Whatmough

Looking at information gathered on three separate biological surveys walking the ‘hidden’ coastline of Mourne, the talk will take us on a journey from Carlingford Lough to Dundrum Inner Bay, looking at the geology and its covering geomorphology, which is of particular interest in the interpretation of the end of the last Ice Age.

We look at surveying the specialised and sometimes rare plants which live on this fringe of land, and how they survive extreme conditions of drought, seawater, wind and waves; we look for interesting sea and wetland birds, and watch how man has treated this fantastic resource.
